FOR PRESIDENT, GENERAL WINFIELD SCOTT. OF NEW JERSEY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

WILLIAM A. GRAHAM, OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Resouver, That the Whig people of Washington, conscious that the ground they tread is worthy of the consecrated name it bears only so long as it is peopled by men who hold to the Union of the States as the source and fountain of the blessings of public order and private right—of liberty and law—of happiness at home, and honor throughout the world: and believing that in the principles and policy of the Whig party, and in the tried patriotism of its glorious leaders, is the best safeguard of the Union from domestic discord or foreign quarrel, no note running to those principles, and will raily with ardent and united hearts around the flag of the Union, to whomsoever of these leaders it may be confided in the approaching contest.—Proceedings of a Whig meeting prior to the nomination.

Washington, August 16, 1852.

The patrons of this paper are respectfully informed, that the present junior partner will give to its affairs his undivided personal attention, and it is hoped its efficiency will be thereby enhanced, especially in its character as a local newspaper. In our efforts to achieve this purpose; however, we look for the increased encouragement and favor of the public.

That an increased circulation and advertising business will result from the more perfect adaptation of our paper to the requirements of the community, we have no doubt: but we wish it to be understood that this increase of revenue is no influence, the State will go for Scott and Granecessary as an important means of improve- ham by thousands!" ment, and that, where such mutual dependence exists, our fellow-citizens must not wait for our going too far in advance of the necessary support from them. We shall, at least, keep even pace with the means they place at our disposal.

Whig Mass Meeting in Frederick, Md. This large and enthusiastic gathering of the Whigs of the above city and county came off, agreeably to notice, on Saturday last. The assembly convened at 11 o'clock a. m. in the Court house square. The venerable F. A. Schley was called to the chair. He rose and announced the object of the meeting, and addressed it in a speech of great power and feeling. Senator Dawson, of Georgia, was the next speaker. His speech was characterized by great ability and eloquence. He was succeeded by that little man of great mind, the Hon. Edward Stanly, of North Carolina, and the Boanerges of Tennessee, the Hon. Wm. Cullom. The speeches of these two gentlemen were worthy of their fame ed, zealous Whigs, and thrilling orators. At the close of Gen. Cullom's speech, the distinguished, whole-souled chairman announced to the vast assembly that a collation-some creahouse, to which he invited all present. The meetwere discussed with gusto. In this connexion gant and hospitable mansion a number of the visiters to the city, where they were entertained with the most sumptuous feast.

At 2 o'clock the meeting reassembled. The crowd seemed to have increased, rather than diminished. After a few earnest addresses by several gentlemen, the meeting adjourned till 8 o'clock. At the hour of 6, several members of Congress, candidates on the Electoral ticket, and other gentlemen, found themselves in the domicil of F. A. Schley, esq., and were soon seated at his hospitable table, groaning under the luxuries of the season, and the choicest wines from every clime. This gentleman and his two amiable sons are sterling Whigs, and enthusiastic admirers of the conqueror of Mexico. The kind attention and courtesies extended by this gentleman and his family, by Colonel John Lee, Mr. Trail, Dr. Waters, J. B. Schley, esq., and other prominent citizens of the venerated city of Frederick, to the speakers and other visiters, were of the most cordial character; and "laws of gratitude" were engraven on the hearts of all who were the recipients of the refined and elegant hospitalities of the citizens of Frederick.

At 8 o'clock the masses again assembled. They were addressed with great ability and fervid eloquence by H. Winter Davis, Richard I. Merrick, Hon, R. W. Bowie, and Col. A. G. Sollers. We regret our inability to furnish a more detailed report of this large and enthusiastic meeting of held it fast. It was very much disfigured, and the patrictic masses of old Frederick. Let it in a putrescent condition. The gold watch of suffice that none have ever witnessed more enthusiasm. It reminded us of the spirit of the eventful year of 1840. The "old Maryland line," will be found arrayed on the side of Fcott and Graham in November next.

Brownlow, of Tennessee.

this reverend political editor is spoken of in such manner as to suggest the inference that the Whig the water in it being high at the time-it was his is the only Whig paper in Tennessee that opposes Gen. Scott; the second, that he opposed Gen. Taylor in like manner; and the third, that we can elect Gen. Scott, as we did Gen. Taylor, without the aid of brother Brownlow. Amen !

The Compensation of Clerks. A writer in the Intelligencer of this morning

"I trust that the Senate will restore Mr. Gentry's amendment to its 'fair proportions' reporting it back to the House."

If neither Senate nor House concur in opinion with the writer, we shall thank them for consummating the change already made by the House, which will certainly entitle Congress to the gratitude of all. Still we think, with the writer, that Mr. Gentry's proposition was just, and that its adoption by both houses will be hailed with approbation by every citizen of the United States who looks into the merits of the

We notice that some of our most respected Repesentatives oppose the measure, or saddle it with impracticable provisions, because it does not comprehend every desired object of reform they wish to see accomplished. This is unwise and unkind. Dilatory time will accomplish all, and all the better for having the work done by piecemeal. When it is possible to increase the compensation of the day-laborer, the mechanic, or the seamstress, we shall be found ready to plead in their behalf; but we can surely not help their cause by burdening that of others with it at an inopportune moment. We respect both the authors of movements in their behalf, and the motives prompting them; but, as the thing will require more time and consideration than can at this late day of the session be given to it, we hope the suggestions thrown out may not be persisted in to the prejudice of a good cause, that will probably encounter no other obstruction in its progress toward completion.

Iowa and North Carolina.

It appears that former accounts from both these States are erroneous. We have but one of the two Representatives from Iowa-Mr. Henn being re-elected. The legislature is also probably Democratic.

In North Carolina, Gov. Raid is of course reelected, but the legislature is believed to be ours. We earnestly hope this may prove true; for we would willingly forego a dozen governors to retain in the United States Senate the eloquent, able, accomplished, and patriotic MANGUM.

The Raleigh Register says that the most reckless partisan in that State, who is at all informed, "will not dare to pronounce the result of this election any indication or test of the relative strength of the two political parties;" and the last Wilmington Journal (a Democratic paper) explicitly admits that it cannot be so considered. It remarks that "free suffrage is stronger than any man or set of men;" and so we think it should

"In the mean time, we would say to our Whig friends abroad, Lose not your confidence in the continued ascendancy of Whig principles in North Carolina! The State is Whig as ever. Local causes have had everything to do with Reid's election-national politics nothing. In November, when these causes are removed, or can have

Life and Services of Gen. Scott.

Seldom has so popular a paper issued from the American press as the Life and Services of Gen. Scott, recently published through the columns of the National Intelligencer. "These sketches," says the Baltimore American, "will recommend themselves no less for the graphic power of narration displayed than for the rare skill with which so much is so well told in so comparatively small a space. No one, we are sure, can read this history without feeling all the emotions of patriotism and love of country stirred within him by the recital of the gallant deeds performed and the important services rendered by the hero who political predilections and bias, ought certainly to disarm party calumny, and shield from detracble to strike at him except through her."

Death by Drowning.

On Wednesday evening last, Mr. Balaam Birch, a master carpenter of this city, left his home for the purpose of visiting an acquaintance on G street, east of Tiber creek. As he failed to return to his family during that night, and no tidings were received of his whereabouts, his friends, apprehensive that he was drowned, or had met with death in some other way, caused a search to be made in the creek, as well as in the canal, for his body, but for some time without avail. On Saturday the persons present at the house at the time of Mr. Birch's visit were brought before Justice Goddard for examination. which was not concluded until the next day. It was ascertained during the investigation that Birch left that neighborhood at about nine o'clock at night on his return home; but, there being no evidence before the magistrate, as we are informed, to justify their detention, they were discharged. Yesterday afternoon officers Handy, Boss, Barnaclo, Calclazier, and others, resumed the search, and, having explored the culvert extending to the Tiber along the line of Indiana avenue, they found the body of Mr. Birch in that part of the water-course over which Mr. Baldwin's carpenter-shop is erected. It was lodged against a beam, while another, across the breast, upon his finger, which precludes the idea that he lost his life by the hand of an assassin.

A coroner's jury examined fully into the facts of the case, so far as they could be ascertained. and, from the evidence before them, arrived at We have opened several Democratic papers this the conclusion that the deceased came to his morning in which the "powerful influence" of death by accidentally falling into the sewer on the southeast corner of G and 5th streets; and party in that State is to be annihilated by him. then raining and the night dark -he was drowned He is a gentleman of fine talents and great ener. before he could recover himself. #### FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamer Illinois, with nearly $2,000,000 in specie, three hundred and forty passengers, and California dates to July 15, arrived at New York on Saturday evening. She left Panama on July 27. The mails and specie were brought to Panama by the steamer Northerner.

The news from California is of little interest. Collisions with the Indians continue. A body of whites under Major Harvey attacked a party of Pasquals, and killed twenty-five of them. Another party of whites, under Lieutenant Moore, at-tacked band of Indians on Mercede river, killing six and capturing twelve.

The barley crops in the Sacramento valley had all been harvested. The yield was heavy, and the grain of superior quality.

A meeting was held at Mariposa on the 4th of July, to consider the propriety of expelling the entire foreign population of the county. The government schooner Active sailed from San Francisco on the 13th for the coast survey at he mouth of the Columbia river. A detachment of dragoons under Lieutenant Stoneman went over to Port Oxford.

The stock of the San Francisco and Mariposa telegraph company had nearly all been taken. A new German Democratic paper had been started at San Francisco.

News from the mines was encouraging. The court-martial for the trial of Colonel Craig had met at San Francisco.

Two Days Later.

The steamer Northern Light, from San Juan, arrived this morning. She brings $150,000 in gold, and 300 passengers, and two days later California advices. San Juan was healthy, and

Senator Seward's Speech.

Of the able, instructive, and beautiful speech of Mr. Seward, now in course of publication in our paper, the Baltimore Clipper justly remarks that "the many facts brought into review by the Senator cannot but prove of general interest, while the brightening commercial prospects, as depicted by this gentleman, show that, far as we have advanced in ocean trade, comparatively we are yet in our infancy. The eastern portion is about to receive from his grateful countrymen of the world will, even in our generation, be the high and honored reward he so well merits. united with the western by a bridge of ships and The perusal of this record, if it cannot overturn railroads, over which will pass in exchange the rich products of the earth and workshops, with all the intermediate commodities of barter; aud, tion and slander one who has achieved for his what is more important still, the principles of country so much as to render it next to impossi- republicanism will diffuse their genial influence to the nations who have never yet heard the thunderings of a self-governed people, nor witnessed the lightnings of intellectual efforts in the great battle for measures calculated to advance the social, political, and religious freedom even now so amply enjoyed under our republic. The peopling of the world commenced in the east, and there civilization began; it would, therefore, be no more than fair, on the part of the west, to express gratitude by the diffusion of the light of free government."

> Senator Hale, says the Baltimore American, in the following letter to the Washington Union, cruelly demolishes one of the best electioneering anecdotes which the Democracy have produced during the present campaign, and over which they have chuckled and crowed most lustily:

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 11, 1852. To the Editor of the Union : SIR: In the Washington Union of the 5th in-

Mr. Wise.—"Were you in New Hampshire two years ago, and did you not hear Hale speak, and march over his (Pierce's) dead body, for he would head an army to oppose him?" Mr. Map.—"I did."

The account then proceeds: "You can imagine the feeling which this reply elicited. The courthouse rang with shouts of applause, repeated again and again. Mr. Wise then requested his opponent to state the facts again, which he did to an almost breathless auditory: 'Gen. Pierce did eay (slapping his hand upon his breast) that Hale would have to pass over his dead body before he marched upon the South."

The magnificent portrait of Washington about which so much has been said by the most distinguished scholars and statesmen of our country, and by the press throughout the Union, is to be presented to the Senate on Wednesday, by Senator Cooper, of Pennsylvania. Will not that honorable body do something in the way of encouragement to the brilliant artist and patriotic publisher of this only correct likeness of the Father of our Country? Every public office under the government should possess one.

CROGHAN AND SCOTT .- At a dinner given at Tammany Hall in 1818, General Brown, General Scott, General Miller, General Ripley, General Porter, and Colonel Croghan, the hero of Sandusky, were present. General Scott presided. After the General had retired, Colonel Croghan gave the following sentiment:

A Very Bad Reason.

It appears that at one of the mass meetings of the Abelitionists held on the 12th instant at Pittsburg, "there were loud cries for Douglass, who did not appear; but Mr. Watson Haynes did, who came out strong in favor of Pierce, because, as he said, he was anti-Catholic."

Mexican Mustang Liniment! THE EVIDENCES ACCUMULATE!

READ the following proof of what we have long since que non of all external remedies ever before offered to the afflicted:

sifficted:

"Wm. M. Johnston, No. 112 Second street, Pittsburg, says that he had a severe attack of Rheumatism in his right hip; after suffering some ten days, the left hip also became affected, and he was obliged to 'lay up.' The pain was constant and excruciating. He had heard of the wonderful effects of the Mustang Liniment in Rheumatism, and determined to try it. One small bottle, thoroughly applied, performed a perfect cure! B. H. Meakings, 183 Walnut street, Cincinnati, was confined to his bed and under treatment of a physician some six weeks with Neuralgia of the whole of his right side, leg, arm, and face. His sufferings were indescribable, and the ouly ecssation from the most agonizing pain was while under the influence of opium or morphine. His doctor finally advised him to try the Mustang Liniment; he did so, and in two days was able to go about his business, perfectly cured."

"THE LAME MADE TO WALK.—About the first of April I did so, and in two days was able to go about his business, perfectly cured."

"The Lame MADE TO WALK.—About the first of April I cut and laid open the fore finger of my left hand, through the bone and across the second joint, nearly discovering it from the hand, being about two-thirds off. I was fearful that I should lose the use of my finger forever; but I bound it up with the Mixican Mustang Liniment, and it soon healed up, and is now perfectly well, though somewhat scarrified. I used nothing but the Mustang Liniment.

"About one week ago I had the misfortune to cut the cap of my left knee in two with the sharp corner of an axe. The cap was split seunder, and for a day or two I could not use my leg at all and I was afraid that I would lose its use forever. The cap was cut and eleft to the joint with a deep and alerming gash, and it gave me great rain and uneasiness, lest I should be entirely deprived of the use of my leg. I applied the Mexican Mustang Liniment, and that alone, in both of the above cases, and I am now quite well, except the cap of my knee is a little swollen, and is tender about the cut, which is healed up and shows a fresh red appearance of about one inch and a half in length and a quarter of an inch in width, but gives me no inconvenience whatever, "I walked fifteen miles yesterday out of the thirty miles from the place where I live near the Sulphur Springs, in Jefferson county, and feel able to walk as many more today. My recovery has been so wonderful that I feel it my duty to make it public, that the world may know the value of the Mexican Mustang Liniment. AARON ROSE.

To this permit me briefly to reply, that, for whatever purpose such a dialogue may have been made by me, and, of course, no such answer by General Pierce; nor was there a meeting holden in New Hampshire, or elsewhere, in which such dialogue could have occurred. General Pierce and myself have not spoken at the same public meeting since 1840-when we both spoke on the same side-but once, and that was at the North Church, in Concord, New Hampshire, in June, 1845; and I am sure that of the thousands who attended that meeting, not one can be found who will pretend that anything of the kind took place at that time. That, however, has nothing to do with the statement, as the remarks related by Mr. Map were made at a meeting holden two
